January, 1st month of the year is generally the time to review, introspect, predict and project. This year is no different except for the fact that situation we are in is pretty unique. Courtesy COVID, current market positioning has no semblance to what we have seen or learnt from experience in recent history.

What we are experiencing is weird cocktail of high demand presumably supported by easy monetary policy and fiscal policy that is feeding inflation, while supply side still struggling to clear the backlog, employers finding it difficult to hire and central banks indicating a hike in interest rates which many fear might trigger recession or stagflation.

To untangle this maze, help us get clarity to be able to better prepare for the future and also to share his views on what can we expect in coming Union Budget, Monetary Policy, FEDAI as part of Monthly Discussion Forum, have invited Sh. Ashutosh Khajuria, Executive Director, Federal Bank.
